LOSS OF BLOOD FATAL TO COLUMBUS MAN IN ROUTE 23 WRECK

William Anderson, W. P. A. Watchman, Struck In Neck By Glass

William Anderson, 40, of 819 Cleveland avenue, Columbus, was killed shortly before midnight Monday when his car struck a culvert and overturned on Route 23 about three miles North of South Bloomfield.

Mr. Anderson was caught under the car as it overturned. His throat was cut by glass. He bled to death, officers said.

The cause of the accident is unknown. Mr. Anderson was driving southward. Relatives said he was enroute to Hurricane, W. Va., to meet his wife.

The culvert was on the opposite side of the highway. His car had crossed the road and traveled a short distance before colliding with the culvert, officers said. Mr. Anderson was riding alone and no witnesses to the accident have been located.

Mr. Anderson was a watchman employed on W.P.A. He is survived by his widow and three sisters, all of Columbus. The body was removed to the Schlegel funeral home in Ashville until arrangements for services are completed.

Two women motorists, whose names were not learned, reported the accident. Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Robert Adkins investigated the tragedy. Verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner C. E. Bowers who said death was due to an acute hemorrhage. In addition to the throat cut, severing a jugular vein, Mr. Anderson had a deep cut under the left arm, cuts over both eyes, and his low lip was cut.

FIVE AIDES OF ELYRIA SHERIFF OUT OF JOBS

ELYRIA, Oct. 11—(UP)—Five of the nine Lorain county deputy sheriffs either resigned or were dismissed today because of differences with Sheriff William F. Grall, who testified in common pleas court last week that he accepted "protection" payments from slot machine interests.

Sheriff Grall, who has refused to resign from office, was visited early today by Chief Deputy John Fulton and Deputies John Judge and Emil Kubischke, who demanded his resignation immediately. After they had talked for some time, the three deputies were dismissed.

Later, Deputies John Hudak and Michael Bulzoni telephoned their resignations to the sheriff "because of what you admitted during the trial."

The trial of five persons accused of bribing police officials in connection with slot machine operations was resumed today. Sheriff Grall had testified that the defendants paid $250 weekly for "protection" on each slot machine. One of the defendants, David Crawford, sr., 71, was brought into court on a stretcher today. His illness from a heart ailment caused postponement of yesterday's court session.

Other defendants are David Crawford, jr., William Peer, Harry Ziegman and Stanton Hobbs. Before the trial was resumed today, Former Chief Deputy Fulton filed application for the sheriff's job with the county commissioners, "In case there is a vacancy."

IMPROPER LIGHTS CHARGED

James Vonscherlitz, 239 Westmoore avenue, Columbus, posted $10 bond Monday night to report in police court Tuesday evening on a charge of operating an auto with improper lights.

HERRMANN TO TAKE CHAIR AS LEGION'S COMMANDER

Installation of new officers of Howard Hall post, American Legion, will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m.

The new officers are Karl J. Herrmann, commander; Lorin Dudleson, first vice commander; D. A. Yates, second vice commander; William Betts, Jr., treasurer; James Shea, adjutant; James Cook, chaplain; Ralph Schumm and Joseph Lynch, members of the executive committee, and Howard Anderson and John Goodchild, sergeants at arms.

COUNTY TEAMS VIE FOR HONOR

Vincent Brothers, Mace Enter Fine Pullers In National Dairy Event

A team owned by Vincent Brothers, New Holland, pulled 2,800 pounds a distance of 27 1/2 feet Monday to qualify for the lightweight contest being conducted in connection with the National Dairy Show, Columbus.

Six lightweight teams survived the elimination rounds. Fifteen more lightweight teams were to pull Tuesday afternoon to qualify for the finals scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. Heavyweights will pull on Thursday and Friday. Thirty-four teams are entered in the heavyweight contests. Lightweight teams are under 3,000 pounds, heavyweights over that figure.

There was a possibility that a new record in the lightweight contest may be established. The team owned by Harley Mace, New Holland, holder of the record, was to pull Tuesday. This team tugged a load of more than 21 tons at the Coshocton fair this year.

Horses owned by John Day, Springfield, world's lightweight champion pullers for several years, are in the contest. This team qualified Monday.

STUDENTS, LOST 48 HOURS, SAVED FROM CAVERNS

DOUGHERTY, Okla., Oct. 11—(UP)—Two college students were taken, alive and unharmed, from the mysterious caverns of the Arbuckle mountains today. They had been lost in the dank, pitch-black underground wilderness for more than 48 hours.

Parents and friends had feared that they had drowned or were hopelessly lost in unexplored caverns so extensive men, according to Indian legend, have entered them and were never seen again. Their automobile and their clothing were found near a cave's mouth so small they had crawled in on hands and knees.

The youths were Thurman K. Treadwell, Jr., 18, and Hugh Glen Munroe, 17, students at the Central State Teachers college. They had put on their bathing suits, crawled into the cave, swam and waded across a subterranean pool a quarter of a mile long, finally reaching dry ground. There they had lost their flashlight, and, believing their only chance of rescue was to wait for a searching party, they had stayed there in the cold and blackness until a party arrived early today.

Treadwell is the son of the head of the college's extension department. He and Munroe set out for the caverns from their home in Ada Sunday, telling their parents they were going to catch lizards for study in their biology classes.

Twins Offered for Adoption

HELENE (left) and Patricia Mulcrone, of Marble Hall, Pa., 12-year-old twins, have been offered for adoption by their father, who says he loves them so devotedly that he cannot bear the thought of his poverty robbing them of their gifts. They are pretty, have rich contralto voices, can play piano, draw and dance.

Auto Firms Rush Output Although Strikes Loom

DETROIT, Oct. 11—(UP)—United Automobile Workers union officials meet today with officers of two of the auto industry's "big three" corporations in an attempt to settle a controversy over the U. A. W.'s demand for a 32-hour work week and to iron out grievances brought by union members.

At one meeting, R. J. Thomas, U. A. W. vice-president, and Herman Weckler, vice-president of Chrysler Corp., will confer on the 32-hour week question which last Friday resulted in 9,000 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing Co., and 6,000 Plymouth employees being made idle.

At the other, Jack Little, president of the Flint U. A. W. Local 156, will present grievances of Buick members to officials of the General Motors Corp. It was believed also that Little would bring up the 32-hour week with the General Motors heads.

Homer Martin, U. A. W. president, said that "no difficulty" was anticipated in obtaining the 32-hour week at Chrysler plants.

3,000 To Be Called
The Chevrolet division of General Motors announced at Flint Monday that 3,000 men would be called back to work within two weeks.

In a statement to U. A. W. shop stewards, Ted La Duke, chairman of the union bargaining committee, said he believed Chevrolet's plans for rehiring 3,000 men would "change the picture for an immediate demand for a 32 hour week."

Meanwhile in Lansing, C. L. McCuen, Oldsmobile general manager, announced that "an unprecedented volume of advance retail orders" has forced the rehiring of 2,350 laid-off employees who will go on the night shift to meet production demands.

It was believed that Little's meeting with General Motors heads would avert a threatened general strike at the Flint Buick plant. The U. A. W. charges that Buick violated seniority provisions of its contract.

It appeared likely that if the union is successful in negotiating a 32-hour week at either Chrysler or General Motors, the "spread the work" movement would be extended to all manufacturers with U. A. W. contract.

OHIO PENSIONER SLAIN BY BULLET FIRED IN WINDOW

CHARDON, O., Oct. 11—(UP)—Authorities today hunted the person who fired a rifle bullet through the window the home of Decker R. Beardsley, 81-year-old state pensioner, killing him instantly.

Beardsley, a widower, was listening to his radio when he was slain. His body was found by a neighbor at East Claridon, three miles east of here.

Officers have received previous complaints against bullets being fired from automobiles in the vicinity.

WALLACE TAKES LEAD IN DRIVE TO AID FARMERS

Expanded Markets Sought To Save U. S. Program From Collapse

DIRECT HELP STUDIED
More Drastic Reductions In 1939 Allotments May Be Ordered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace took personal command of a drive for expanded markets today to save the New Deal farm program from collapse under unprecedented surpluses.

He has reorganized his entire administrative staff to direct a revised program intended to (1) expand domestic markets for farm products and (2) increase direct federal aid to "give farmers a fair share of the national income."

Five years of New Deal efforts to solve the farm problem are jeopardized by unmarketable surpluses and the lowest prices since 1933. Reports of farm dissatisfaction have increased and critics have assailed the entire program.

1937 Production Higher

The department's October crop board report yesterday showed aggregate crop production at the highest since 1920, with the exception of 1937. Unusually favorable weather resulted in bumper crops despite wide powers given Wallace by the farm act last winter to control plantings.

Two successive years of bumper crops have resulted in an all-time record supply of approximately 25,250,000 bales of cotton; a record supply of 1,090,000,000 bushels of wheat, and a corn supply of 2,780,000,000 bushels, second largest on record.

The overflow from the "ever normal granary" established in the 1938 agricultural act has swept prices of principal crops down 25 to 50 percent in the last six months. Wheat and corn prices have been hardest hit.

Farm administration officials said that Wallace had abandoned hope of providing a solution through expanded foreign markets. Instead, he has turned to development of new markets at home.

There must be "action," Wallace said, "to encourage greater consumption of cotton in ways that would raise the standard of living of all our people." He appointed a commission to study means of getting more clothing and food into the hands of the "one-third which are underfed and under-clothed."

Efforts to expand exports through a government subsidy have been disappointing. The wheat subsidy program, adopted two months ago and designed to "meet all competition," has reduced exports.

EDWARD WALKER DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS AT 68

Edward D. Walker, 68, died at his home, 118 Hayward avenue, at 6:30 p. m. Monday following a long illness. Death was due to complications.

Mr. Walker was born Nov. 1, 1869. He is survived by his widow, Eliza Jane; six children, Mrs. Sherman Leasure, Mrs. Albert Heath, Mrs. Raymond Goodman, and Thomas and Charles, all of Circleville, and Harry of Columbus; one brother, Ross Walker of Marion, and a sister, Mrs. Alonzo Shockley, Mt. Sterling, 11 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday with the Rev. L. S. Metzler officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of H. E. Deffenbaugh & Son.

C. OF C. TO HAVE ENTRY IN PUMPKIN SHOW EVENT

The Chamber of Commerce voted Tuesday noon to have an entry in the Miss Pumpkin Show parade held on the opening night of the celebration. The Chamber of Commerce entry will ride on a float.

REPUBLICANS ARRANGE RURAL CAMPAIGN TALKS

One of a series of rural Republican meetings will be held Nov. 3 in Five Points with others to be arranged in Pickaway county prior to the general election. Tom A. Renick, chairman of the county executive committee, said that Ray W. Davis, ex-prosecutor, will be chairman of the Five Points gathering although the speakers have not yet been appointed. Other meetings will be held in New Holland, Commercial Point, Derby and Williamsport with a county-wide meeting to be held in Circleville as a climax to the campaign.

LEWIS OFFERS TO LEAVE C. I. O.

Green Must Resign As A. F. Of L. Chief, Union Leader Declares

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—(UP)—John L. Lewis said today he is willing to quit as chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization if William Green will retire as head of the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis made his offer shortly after Green had told the American Federation of Labor convention at Houston that peace between the federation and C. I. O. was impossible as long as Lewis remained at the head of the C. I. O.

In outlining his proposal, Lewis said today that if he and Green quit their respective posts:

"It then may be possible for the remaining leaders of the Federation of Labor and the remaining leaders of the C. I. O. to conclude a peace pact, in which event the contribution made by Mr. Green and myself would be of some value."

Speaking to newspapermen, Lewis said that there may be "some virtue" behind the A. F. of L. suggestions that he retire from official participation as a peace gesture and added "obviously the C. I. O. could function without."

'PAINTERS' FLEE WITH VALUABLE JEWELS AS LOOT

BOSTON, Oct. 11—(UP)—Posing as painters but wielding acetylene torches safe-crackers stole $125,000 in jewelry from a jewelry store, police disclosed today.

Many persons, including city hall employees, saw the "painters" working Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday. Officials of the store, Gordon brothers, said the burglars, working openly in the adjacent vacant store, had cut neatly through the only section of wall not wired with a burglar alarm and cut open the safe with torches. Details were not disclosed until today.

A truck bearing the name of a large painting firm, stopped at the vacant store's rear door Saturday night. Tools and other equipment, wrapped in painters' canvas, were unloaded.

Departing with pouches filled with unset opals, diamonds, rubies, pearls and emeralds and bracelets, necklaces and rings, the gang left behind the painters' clothes and other equipment.

YOUTH INJURED AS GAS IN OLD TRUCK EXPLODES

William R. Jackson, 11, son of Mrs. Ethel Tigner, Weldon avenue, was burned about the face and head Monday evening when the gasoline tank on an old truck body exploded.

The youth was playing around the old truck with Clarence Moss, 11, also of Weldon avenue. The tank exploded when the Moss boy tossed a match into it.

The Jackson boy was taken to Berger hospital for treatment.

HUNDREDS FEAR LIVES IN DANGER UNDER GERMAN

Homeless Seek Haven In America; Appeal Given To Commissioner

PRAGUE IN DIFFICULTY

Tiny Republic Unable To Care For All Fleeing Sudeten Regions

PRAGUE, Oct. 11—(UP)—Austrian and German refugees, some of whom fear death under Nazi rule, appealed for United States aid today in finding asylum in America or other countries.

Some 700 refugees at Brno asked the help of the United States legation. The appeal was handed to Sir Neil Malcolm, high commissioner of refugees of the League of Nations. Malcolm arrived yesterday.

Many Fear Death

The appeal said that many of the refugees would be sent to concentration camps and some faced execution, if they entered Germany or came under German rule once again in the German-occupied regions of Czechoslovakia.

The Prague government faced the problem of finding homes for 60,000 refugees, all of whom originally had fled from Germany and Austria. The shrinking boundaries of the little republic made it difficult for them to remain here.

Many of the refugees had been scheduled to leave tonight but the government postponed their departure owing to the danger they faced if they were forced to return to Germany.

Many of them found it impossible to get visas to leave Czechoslovakia through Roumania. The Hungarian and Polish frontiers were virtually closed to them.

Hungarian Troops Enter Czech Land

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 11—(UP)—Hungarian troops crossed the Czechoslovak border at 11:45 a. m. today and occupied the town of Zatorajauhely, while delegations from the two countries resumed their territorial conference at the border town of Komarom.

It was a "symbolic" occupation, to which the Czechs consented in a gesture of goodwill.

A company of engineers, the vanguard of troops, inspected the international bridge for possibly hidden bombs, found it safe, and signaled for the marchers to proceed.

Large crowds stood on both ends of the bridge, cheering. They waved Hungarian flags and sang the Hungarian national anthem. The Czech side of the bridge was decorated with flags and flowers.

The Czechoslovak government ordered civilians in nine border districts, extending from Dumas-zerdahely on the West to Kiraly Helmezc on the East, to surrender their arms, leading to the belief in Hungarian government circles that the Czechs intended to cede the districts to Hungary.

COL. LINDBERGH SILENT ABOUT RUSSIAN CHARGE

BERLIN, Oct. 11—(UP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at the Tempelhof airfield here today at 9:05 a. m. (Circleville time) from Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

A United Press correspondent informed Lindbergh of the letter published by the Russian newspaper Pravda charging that Lindbergh was a Fascist sympathizer and that he had belittled the Soviet air force.

"I have nothing to say," Lindbergh replied.

Lindbergh and his wife were met by Col. Truman Smith, United States military attaché, and Lieut. Col. Carganiko, commander of the airport.

They were accompanied to the city by Col. Smith, with whom they were expected to stay while in Berlin.

ANTI-CATHOLIC RIOTERS JAILED

Hitler Investigates Fight At Historic Cathedral St. Stephen

BERLIN, Oct. 11—(UP)—Msgr. Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio to Germany, formally protested to the foreign office today against anti-Catholic riots in Vienna.

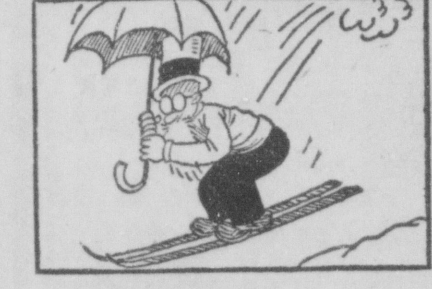

VIENNA, Oct. 11—(UP)—A big scale round up of anti-Catholic rioters was started today by Nazi authorities as Adolf Hitler intervened personally to investigate disorders centering at the historic cathedral of St. Stephen.

Joseph Buerckel, supreme German Nazi commissioner for Austria, assumed charge of the local investigation and was reported to have ordered that an example was to be made of the men who, on Friday and Saturday nights, rioted before the cathedral, invaded the palace of Cardinal Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, and burned a crucifix, a painting of the Madonna, and prayer books.

It was understood that several dozen suspects already were under arrest.

Further, it was noticed that minor officials of the Nazi party, most of them dressed unobtrusively in civilian clothes, were guarding a number of Vienna's churches, monasteries and cloisters. Buerckel was reported to have ordered this watch against any new outbreak.

WALLACE TAKES LEAD IN DRIVE TO AID FARMERS

sulted in the sale of about 10,000,000 bushels of the 100,000,000-bushel goal.

Indicating a shift of emphasis to the subsidizing of domestic consumption, one proposal was that the government sell cotton, wheat and possibly corn on which it has made loans to processors at prices which would enable them to market the products cheaply among low income groups.

Wallace raised the Surplus Commodities corporation to full bureau rank under Jesse W. Tapp. It already has begun a program under which $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 of farm surpluses will be purchased during the next 12 months for free distribution to needy.

Looking toward a long-range program to increase the farmer's share of the national income, Wallace proposed a permanent subsidy to be financed by the re-entactment of processing taxes declared unconstitutional by the supreme court almost three years ago in the Hoosac mills case.

Another approach to the problem of surpluses will be still more drastic reductions in 1939 acreage allotments, farm administration officials said. Wheat farmers have been given allotments one-third below 1938 plantings over protests from some that it would mean bankruptcy.

Cotton farmers, who reduced plantings 7,000,000 acres this year, face still another cut next year as a result of an unexpectedly large crop of 12,212,000 bales. Growers already have approved marketing restrictions and the government has announced loans averaging 8.25 cents a pound.

Wheat farmers are receiving loans averaging 59 cents a bushel and loans averaging 61 cents a bushel on corn this fall now appear almost certain. The crop board forecast of corn production totaling 2,459,316,000 bushels, coupled with farm prices averaging 48 cents a bushel, made loans virtually mandatory under the farm act.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Bubbling with the humor and naturalness that made the original Kate Douglas Wiggin story one of the best-sellers of its day, the film version of "Mother Carey's Chickens" opens Wednesday at the Cliftona, as a special attraction to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the theatre.

Closely following the book, the film deals with the interesting careers of the Careys. The head of the family, a naval officer, dies during the war with Spain, and his wife and four children, left penniless save for a scanty pension, try to carry on as their father would have wished.

AT THE GRAND

Poking good-natured fun at Hollywood publicity methods through a series of adventures involving a temperamental screen star and a bare-brained press agent, "The Affairs of Annabel" brings Jack Oakie and Lucille Ball in their first co-starring comedy.

Miss Ball, recently seen in "Stage Door" and "Joy of Living," displays her talents as the harassed star-heroine, while Oakie is said to have his funniest role to date as the talking publicist.

WILL ROCK COMING

Will Rock, the successor to the Great Howard Thurston, booked for an engagement of two days at the Grand theatre, starting Wednesday, will bring the largest and greatest necromantic extravaganza ever seen in these parts. Not only has Mr. Rock purchased all the equipment of the late Howard Thurston, including his latest mysteries and unbelievable illusions, but he has engaged for his tour several of Thurston's greatest assistants. Mr. Rock himself has really been the "Right Arm" of the World's famous magician for years.

AT THE CIRCLE

A western star who doesn't sing—who doesn't even play a musical instrument in fact comes to the Circle theatre this afternoon and tonight. The non-musical star is Jack Randall ace performer who rides, fights and shoots to save a falsely accused brother in "The Mexicali Kid."

TWO APPLE CROPS IN YEAR

Transparent apples on the farm of J. H. Peters, East Ringgold, haven't heard about the dangers of crop surpluses because they have little regard for laws governing production. About July 1, Mr. Peters picked a fine crop. Today, he is exhibiting samples from the second crop of apples from the same orchard.

You know I've been doin' a lot's a thinkin' lately about the way these Hollywood actors dress and I finally decided that the reason they dress that way is because if they didn't, nobody could tell they was actors. The same is true of people in pret near any profession. Musicians dress like musicians and firemen dress like firemen.

When our chief of police down home started to go to the policemen's convention at Kansas City, somebody asked him if he was gonna wear his police uniform. He says, "I should say I am—the last police convention we had at St. Louis, we all wore civilian clothes and half of us was arrested as suspicious characters!"

Deep Sea Diver Relates Thrills, Shows Curios

Thrilling experience gained from 21 years as a deep sea diver were brought to Circleville Monday night by Robert M. Zimmerman in the second entertainment in a series being presented by the Circleville Kiwanis club.

In addition to his dramatic narrative of work on the ocean's floor, he had a large display of deep-sea curios, including fish, corals, shells and sponges. One sponge display would hold nine gallons of water.

Mr. Zimmerman told of one occasion when he was shipwrecked and his leg broken. He and some natives swam to an uninhabited island. His leg was set by placing stakes under his armpits and pulling his leg against a palm tree. Mr. Zimmerman and the natives lived on the island for six weeks before being rescued. When he visited a doctor he learned the bone had been set perfectly.

Difficulties Explained

In displaying the numerous shells in his collection, he explained some of the difficulty experienced in obtaining them. Some fastened to rocks will crush fingers if an attempt is made to pry them loose. Various types of diving equipment and the hazards of deep sea diving were discussed.

Mr. Zimmerman said he had experienced little difficulty with sharks. "The octopus is not as dangerous as he is pictured," he said. The fish dreaded by all divers is the barracuda. He related an experience he and another diver had with two barracuda. One was impaled on an iron pole by Mr. Zimmerman. The other, attacking his companion, bit an iron bar before he was struck on the head and killed by Mr. Zimmerman.

His deepest dive, he said, was 251 feet and at that depth the pressure was 120 pounds per square inch. He explained the cause of "the bends," and the treatment given.

After the lecture Mr. Zimmerman permitted the crowd to inspect his various deep sea curios. The lecture was presented at the Circleville high school auditorium.

POLICE SEARCH FOR KILLER OF MARY COYLE, 17

LARCHMONT, N. Y., Oct. 11—(UP)—The body of Mary Coyle, 17, who had earlier been reported missing, was found today behind a movie theatre in this smart suburb.

Police said she had been beaten to death. The face and head had been battered, as if by a rock, police reported soon after viewing the body.

The girl's parents reported her missing at 2:15 a. m. from their home in New Rochelle, which adjoins Larchmont.

The body was lying face upward at the foot of a long flight of concrete steps descending behind several store buildings to a yard by the Larchmont theatre and two blocks from the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad station.

The body was discovered by Mike, a cocker spaniel belonging to Alexander Branzner, operator of a beauty shop. The dog's barking attracted Branzner, who notified police.

Police Chief William J. Kersey of Larchmont said he believed the girl was killed elsewhere and the body brought by automobile to the place where it was found.

Police were investigating a report that Miss Coyle was seen at about 8 o'clock last night on her way to a service at the Holy Name Catholic church here. New Rochelle detectives said the girl was intensely religious.

BRICK THROWN BY SON FATAL TO COLUMBUS MAN

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—(UP)—Walter Oakley, Sr., 37, struck by a brick thrown by his 17-year-old son during an argument two days ago, died today without regaining consciousness.

Walter Oakley, Jr., was exonerated by authorities after an investigation of his story that his father became angry at him and started chasing him with an axe. The youth was described by his mother as a "model boy." He was said to have been playing the piano when his father asked him to do some work. The father was said to have become angry because the boy did not hear his command.

Four Transports On Way To Cadiz; Soldiers To Quit Spanish War

BRITISH PACT FAVORED

New Disagreements Hinted Between Italian And French Officials

ROME, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Four Italian troop ships left Naples today to embark 10,000 Italian soldiers whom Premier Benito Mussolini is withdrawing from the Spanish civil war.

It was planned that the troop ships, Liguria, Piemonte, Calabria and Sardegna, should embark the troops at Cadiz, in Nationalist Spain near the Straits of Gibraltar, and land them at Naples, October 20.

Disclosures that the ships had left came at a time when negotiations between the Italian and British governments over application of their friendship agreement seemed deadlocked.

They were unable to agree, it was indicated, on what would constitute a "substantial" withdrawal of Italians from the Spanish civil war.

Recognition Sought

It had been apparent that the Italian government hoped that the present withdrawal would bring British recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, and thus lead to early application of the friendship agreement.

But the British wanted a "substantial" withdrawal which would exceed to a considerable extent the "token" withdrawal decided on by Mussolini. Also it appeared that Britain and France were working toward a plan of mediation to end the war.

The new complication in British-Italian relations developed coincidentally with signs of new disagreement between Italy and France.

Virginio Gayda, regarded as a mouthpiece for the government, attacked certain sections of French opinion in his newspaper, Giornale D'Italia, on the ground that they did not give Mussolini sufficient credit for arranging the four power conference at which the Czechoslovak crisis was liquidated.

HUGE PUFFBALL FOUND IN E. RINGGOLD WOODS

One of the largest puffballs ever found in this vicinity is on display at the Circleville Public Library. It weighs three and a half pounds.

The great puffball was found Monday afternoon by Ralph Roby, Jr., 17, of 352 E. Mill street, in a woods on the Earl Riegel farm near Ringgold.

The globe-shaped member of the fungi family measures 30 inches around the long way, 24 inches around the middle.

Although many puffballs are found this time of year, few are so large.

Cliftona to Begin Eleventh Year

New marquee and sign make theatre attractive.

The Cliftona theatre, Tuesday, celebrated its tenth anniversary by continuing extensive improvements that, in the last few months, have included installation of new motion picture super-simplex mechanism which makes a more steady and pronounced picture, a new sound screen, which gives better and more even light, a new marquee and a remodeled sign. Improvements will be continued from time to time to keep the Cliftona one of central Ohio's finest picture houses.

The new marquee and sign have added immensely to the beauty of the theatre's exterior. The marquee has a white ceiling with 110 light bulbs, has four rows of bulbs at each corner with an alternating chasing effect. The sign, built, up above the marquee, extends 18 feet above the marquee and has 115 bulbs on the chasing border of the sign. The word "Cliftona" contains 96 red bulbs. The changeable sign consists of new silhouette letters with a background of white opal glass. The facing of the marquee contains several tubes of blue, vivid green and red neon. "Our program," Richard Williamson, theatre manager, said, "is planned to help provide better entertainment for our patrons."

The popular picture house shows all Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount, United Artists and Columbia releases. Many of the outstanding pictures of the year have been contracted for by the Cliftona management, including Boys Town, which opens next Sunday; Too Hot to Handle, There Goes My Heart, Carefree, Drums, Blockheads, the new Laurel and Hardy film; Professor Beware, You Can't Take It With You, Stambouli, Sweethearts, Men With Wings, The Cowboy and the Lady, The Great Waltz and Listen Darling. The Cliftona has joined the $250,000 movie quiz contest to enable its patrons to take advantage of the national event.

Two New Street Lights Operating In Ashville

By S. D. FRIDLEY Phone Ashville 79

Two new street lights were installed Monday by Cecil Scott, Bob Walden and Charles Fout and located, one near the home of Frank Grice on North Scioto street and the other on the corner near the home of Philip Daley.

Ashville—Out to the park Monday to see what was going on in way of recreation at the play grounds. Several of the boys were busy at football. The high school girls at the school grounds were having a ball game and having a lively time and enjoying the warm sunshine. William Myers in charge of the boys' playground, was busy marking off the football field for a game to be held sometime this week. Mrs. Nance and Miss Conrad were both on the grounds acting as supervisors. Mr. Myers told me that his working hours are from 3 to 7 each afternoon except Saturday when 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. is play time. And while so near to Cecil Scott's waterworks plant, thought we'd better give it the "once over" they all tell you about so often. Was very agreeably surprised to see the spick and span condition in which everything is kept. And for fear some of you might forget about it, the Ashville waterworks plant ranks first of all the villages in the state in being well kept and cared for. And that's something. We tried to discover the power lawn mower which is doing such a good job of mowing, but the working tools about the place, we guess, are kept locked up and out of sight, so we were not successful in finding it.

Ashville—Clyde Brinker's bowling alley season opening was well attended and much enjoyed by the bowling fans. John Messick with his 168 score was highest for men and Mrs. Frances Grant carried away the honors with a score of 108.

Ashville—Three of our nimrods hid themselves off to the Chillicothe hills at an early hour Monday to bring home their full legal allotment, an even dozen, of squirrels, it being the last day for this sport, for them. They did not have the success they had expected, bagging but four. Rev. Fudge, one; George Peters, one; E. F. Schlegel, two. The boys tell us some wild stories about the number and size of the mosquitoes down there but we refuse to quote them for fear of wobbling off that straight and truthful path we sometimes try to follow.

Ashville—Dick Peters and family are now residents, temporarily, of West Union, Adams county. Mr. Peters being in charge as engineer of the waterworks system being installed there. They were up home, Ashville, over Sunday. Say they meet a lot of nice, friendly people. But for real live, poison snakes they have everybody beat—Vipers, rattlers, copper heads. And this is no True or Not snake story. Killed a viper himself just a few days ago. Snake bite medicine? He didn't say.

Ashville—A double feed all in one evening is not too much if the capacity is not lacking. The Methodist brotherhoods of the county are giving their Fall Annual big feed over at Commercial Point tomorrow, Wednesday evening, and the Scioto Valley grangers are doing the same kind of thing up at Grange Hall, North of Ashville.

Ashville—The male teaching force of our schools attended the Lutheran Brotherhood meeting and banquet at Grove City Monday evening. Composing the party were C. A.

Higley, E. F. Martin, Nolan Murphy, Luther Fullen and Edwin Erwin.

CULTURE MOVES WEST

THE more dictators succeed in Europe, the more Europeans appreciate America.

Donald G. Barnes, an American college professor, returning from abroad, says our advantages have risen enormously in the opinions of his foreign friends. This applies even to our middle-west, which many foreign highbrows have been accustomed to scorn.

On this last visit he found Englishmen and Frenchmen stressing American virtues and talking of coming over and settling down in the very region they formerly considered stodgy and unenlightened. Hitler's apparent success has created a revolution in their own thinking. They appreciate not only geographical distance from Central Europe, but difference from its thinking and culture. Our own unpretentious culture, they begin to feel, may be more valuable.

The best example of this trend, perhaps, is Thomas Mann, the world's foremost literary figure, who has already cast his lot with us because he deliberately preferred our life to Europe's.

MUSICAL WORKMEN

THE outcries against professionalism in college athletics have an amusing echo in England. Lord Nuffield, philanthropic multimillionaire automobile manufacturer, after the recent annual contest of industrial bands, charged that some factories hired men for musical skill instead of mechanical skill. It made the inter-factory competition unfair.

Band leaders in various plants have been quick to reply. From the conductor at Lord Nuffield's own Morris Works comes the statement:

"Yes, it is quite true some works with bands do engage musicians irrespective of their ability as workmen. We don't, of course. The job comes first here."

The conductor of the Black Dyke Band of Bradford, Yorkshire, admits he has heard of scandalous professional bands, and adds, "but ours is not one of them. It's all against the Yorkshire character, anyway."

So, too, with Munn and Felton's band of Kettering, Northants, where "every man in the band works in the factory. We don't employ poor workmen or have poor bandsmen. It's a fifty-fifty business."

So now, let there be harmony among British industrial bands as there is harmony between Britain's employees' and employers' unions.

Perhaps the next Peace Prize should be withheld from all candidates until world peace has really been achieved.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

LaGUARDIA'S STAND A MYSTERY

WASHINGTON — One of the biggest questions in the election campaign is what Manhattan's chubby little Mayor LaGuardia will do in the momentous battle between Governor Herbert Lehman of New York and White House-aspiring Tom Dewey.

LaGuardia's New Deal pals were jubilant when Lehman finally bowed to their frantic pleas to run against Dewey, but not the "Little Flower". For him that made the race a choice between the devil and the deep blue sea.

Privately, LaGuardia intensely dislikes both Lehman and Dewey.

He resented Lehman's surprise attack on the President's court plan and fought repeatedly with the Governor last spring over relief and other New York City problems. LaGuardia was willing to swallow Lehman as a candidate for U. S. Senator, but the prospect of having him in Albany four more years is giving the Mayor a sour taste in the mouth.

But Dewey is no sweetener. If anything, LaGuardia is more bellicose toward him than toward Lehman. The Mayor dislikes the Governor but he distrusts Dewey.

LaGuardia is firmly convinced that the cocky young District Attorney has fascist tendencies, that if he got to be Governor he would soon be trying to rule with a mailed fist. Also, the "Little Flower" has his own ambitions for 1940 and deeply resents Dewey's crowding him out of the limelight.

LaGUARDIA VS. DEWEY

As early as last spring LaGuardia was scheming to throw Dewey for a loss. At a secret conference in Washington, the Mayor told a group of Administration strategists he was certain Dewey would be the GOP candidate for New York Governor and they had better get busy building up a strong rival.

"Personally," he said, "I'd like to see Ferd Pecora run against Dewey. Ferd's just the man to lick him. Ferd is widely known, he helped elect Dewey District Attorney, he is a swell campaigner and labor would be 100 percent with him. I think he's a natural."

Intimates of LaGuardia privately predict that he will take no active part in the campaign one way or the other. But they admit they are only guessing and that before the fight is over he may be in it up to his neck.

PROVERBS 21-16

The President didn't follow the suggestion, but an old friend wanted him to use this Proverb as an answer to a press query for comment on the defeat of Representative John O'Connor.

"The man that wandereth out of the way of understanding shall remain in the congregation of the dead."

Speaking of unsettled war debts, some 6,000 Americans rescued by the government and brought home from Europe in 1914 have not repaid Uncle Sam, although the money for their passage was supposed to be a loan.

Yes, young people are more precocious now. We've just read of a 17-year-old girl already divorced.

Blood Used for Transfusion Must be Selected

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

A METHOD of treatment that has always appealed to popular imagination is blood transfusion. The idea of replacing bad blood with good seems logical, and then the notion is deeply grounded that the blood is tinged with all of the maladies of the flesh and of the spirit.

Thus, old Samuel Pepys relates the case of a man who was insane. He appeared before the Royal Society and one of the learned fellows let out of his body a quantity of blood and replaced it with the blood of a sheep. The idea was that with the removal of his own blood, the insanity would go, too, and some of the qualities of the sheep, being a docile, placid animal, would enter in and neutralize his maniacal humor.

We cannot believe they ever got any of the sheep's blood into a human's blood stream because a reaction would be set up which would cause death. The blood which is put into another person's veins in blood transfusion must be very carefully selected and tested to see that it is compatible in every way.

Attempts at blood transfusions are very old. The nearest authentic record we have is in 1665, when Richard Lower united the artery of one dog to the vein of another by means of a goose quill. Not until 1900, however, was blood transfusion put on a scientific basis, and not until comparatively recently was the technique simplified enough to make its use widespread and frequent.

Work of Landsteiner

The discovery in 1900 which put blood transfusion on a scientific basis was that of Landsteiner, who received the Nobel prize for it. It was the fact that the blood of one person may clump the red cells of another, or may dissolve them. Only donors who are tested to see that their blood will be accepted by the recipient are used.

The usual indication for transfusion is hemorrhage.

There are some forms of spontaneous hemorrhage that do not result from the opening of a blood vessel. One of these is a peculiar disease called purpura. Here the blood vessels bleed into the victim's own skin. The cause is a reduction in the blood platelets of the blood, those bodies which control the clotting of blood. It is perfectly logical under these circumstances to add blood from a person who has a full quota of platelets.

Speaking of spontaneous hemorrhage, we should note the recent report that hemophilia can be treated with milk. Hemophilia is that disease of spontaneous bleeding from which the sons of the ex-King of Spain suffer, in which bleeding from a cut does not stop because the blood has the inability to clot.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

A. H.: "Is colitis and spastic irritation the same?"

Answer: Both terms are very indefinite. Colitis is a fashionable term just now and is applied to nearly anything the matter with the large bowel. Strictly, it is an infection, such as amebic. Spastic irritation doesn't mean anything unless it is a combination of spasm and irritation.

J. T.: "What can be done or applied to a burn to ease the pain and burning? Also why don't the medical faculty get after the shoe manufacturers to give us more room across the toes? In this town it is impossible to get shoes that don't pinch across the toes."

Answer: Camphor ice or other cooling ointments will alleviate the burning of a burn. Palliative treatment consists in applying pads. The medical faculty have been advising shoe manufacturers along the lines you suggest for over a hundred years. There are plenty of good orthopedic shoes on the market.

CHAPTER 39

THE EVENING at the Myers residence was a comfortable, happy one. Here, where love encircled the walls, and fame and prestige were callers that were not expected, life moved simply.

Oddly relaxed Judy sat in a large chair near a small fire, kindled in her honor when the meal was done. When a knock sounded at the door, she did not move. Coralee let a man into the small room which was used as a parlor but Judy, half asleep in her lounging place, paid small heed.

Coralee called to her father and he excused himself and entered the other room, hobbling along on his crutches.

Suddenly Judy sat erect. The timber of that low voice, now speaking, was familiar. Where had she heard it? Why was it associated with something sinister, threatening?

She strained her ears to listen but Mrs. Myers began to tell her about the tomatoes that would not keep because she had canned them by a new cold process, and the conversation was lost.

Judy changed chairs. She was too near the fire, she said. She had a quick view of the man.

He wore a green fedora. If he had removed it at all, he had replaced it on his head as he stood up to leave. He had an overcoat of gaudy plaid material. It was the man whom Judy had seen on the steps of her apartment house the night before.

When Mr. Myers rejoined the group in the living room, he was chuckling.

"That man is mighty easy money. He comes all the time and buys letters, the printed ones, done on squares of paper. Must play games with them. Orders 30 e's and 15 t's—but he pays well. Usually in cash."

He opened his hand and made a little pile of the silver on the table.

Judy's quick mind was drinking in the words that Mr. Myers spoke. She must proceed cautiously. He must not know that his client was under suspicion in her mind. So she said:

"May I see some of your work, Mr. Myers?" Coralee says it's beautiful."

The man flushed with pleasure, like a 10-year-old school boy displaying his copybook.

"I always wrote a good hand and when I got laid up, why, this job with the company came along. Now I free lance, too. People have heard about me and come. He spoke with pride. He had made a niche for himself. He was needed.

Judy exclaimed over the letters. Pretty soon she asked:

"Which type of letters did your good customer want?"

"These. He seems to like 'em better. Funny, isn't it? So simple and all? I like a flourish or two."

"No, I think I agree. You make them so strong and rugged. My printing is atrocious and I should know a little something about it. Would you let me have a few letters—some you don't need?"

"I'll be proud to give you a whole alphabet!"

He made her a new one, and Judy sat quietly, not giving way to the impatience that was singing through her blood. Whether the letters would be of any value she did not know. They might be an aid in tracing the unknown man.

"Who is the man who likes to play with the alphabet?" she asked idly after a while.

"I don't know his name. Fact is I don't know a thing about him. He drops in when he wants something, leaves an order or takes it along. Not often. Just now and then."

Judy carried the letters to work with her the next day. They were in a small envelope in her pocket-book and she did not let the bag out of her sight.

It was that next day that the story about Ronald carried headlines in an afternoon newspaper.

The article said that he had been accused of bribing jurors. Three men who sat in the box when he had pleaded cases were involved. Two of them had served on the same panel. One had been alone. This precluded any thought that an outsider might have tried to fix a certain case. It looked to the world as though Ronald won favorable decisions through this method.

The jurors admitted the bribes. They were panic stricken. No one knew where the leak had occurred. Suspicion naturally pointed to more jurors as yet uncaught. Fearing detection, they were remaining in hiding apparently.

Judy, reading the article, said to herself: "Doesn't anyone have sense to know that the others may be silent because they have nothing to say? They were not bribed! It's a frame-up. I know it!"

Not once did she doubt the honesty of the young lawyer. She did not wonder at her conviction. She knew, with the tenacity of a woman who fights for the man she loves, that he must be innocent.

Just the same, she was white-faced and heart sick when he saw the public shame to which he was subjected. With the newspaper in her hand she turned to leave her studio, to seek refuge in the dressing room.

In the corridor, a gray velvet sort of place adorned with mirrors, rose cushions and lamps, she met Abbey Boland.

Abbey's golden beauty was intensified by something royal blue in color, silken in sheen. It changed her eyes from a queenly purple to the serenity of a deep country sky at twilight.

To Judy's amazement the girl spoke with quick friendliness.

"It's nice to see you, Miss Rogers. I owe you an apology."

Hints on Etiquette

The bridegroom is not expected to pay for anything in connection with the wedding except the ring, the minister's fee and flowers for the bride. Her parents attend to all the rest.

Today's Horoscope

If your birthday is on this date you probably are rather an opinionated person. Your views are usually well-grounded in fact, however. You are a natural leader, having a good deal of ability and liking to have it recognized.

PAGES from the Diary of An Antiquated Reporter:

Up and about the village at the usual hour, saluting Dr. Shane at the post and exchanging greetings with Dr. Courtright. Our doctors get up earlier than any others I have known. Nothing in the mail more important than a letter from a candidate, he listing all the dates on which he will speak over the radio. And, incidentally, urging me to devote more and more free space to the promotion of his candidacy. I wonder how much free time he gets on the radio?

That Fall election is not so far away, yet a minimum of comment is heard on the streets. And most of that from local leaders of political factions. Unless something is done soon to stir up interest I fear that the vote in November will be very light.

See by the prints that Col. Lindbergh is being taken apart by the Reds of Russia. Well, I imagine that he cares no more about that than I do, and that is none whatever. Lindy is supposed to have told the powers-that-be in England that the Russ air fleet is nothing to shout about despite the large number of planes. Without having any actual knowledge of the subject I have been of the same opinion for a long time. Remember that the present day Russian aviators were peasants only yesterday, knowing nothing more complicated in a mechanical way than a crooked stick used for a plow. My recollection of peasants across the Atlantic pictures them as being about as intelligent as a cow. And that is no reflection on them either. They just never had a chance. Give the Russians a few more generations and they probably will learn something about the operation of things.

Dropped into the courthouse for a chat with Forrest Short and found him quite busy with the county commissioners, but not too busy to call a halt for a few minutes. It seems to me that our county officials are an unusual busy lot. Every time I visit the courthouse I find everyone active. Exchanged greetings with Mayor Bill at City hall and passed the time of day with Frank Fischer, the educator.

Wonder what has happened to the movement directed toward changing our local government to the city manager form? Some communities succeed with that program; others fail. Maybe we would be in the success class.

Saw several hundred hunters heading for the woods on the last day of the open season. Fred Clark promised a squirrel to a sick friend, dropped in to borrow my target rifle and later returned the piece saying that the squirrel had been shot, dressed and delivered. Saw Charlie Smith with his pair of fine beagles, ready to give them a practice run. Charlie cares little about shooting, but he does enjoy seeing and hearing his dogs work. Me, I like hounds. I think the world's finest music is that provided by a good open-mouthed coon dog in the woods at night. And I haven't been coon hunting for ten years.

Republican, Democratic Women Plan Activities

Mrs. John Bricker and Mrs. Robert Taft to Talk

Mrs. John Bricker and Mrs. Robert Taft will be the speakers at the Pickaway County Republican Women's Luncheon, Friday, Oct. 14, at the New American Hotel coffee shop.

Mrs. B. T. Hedges, county chairman, is in charge of the luncheon which will be served at 12 o'clock. Mrs. E. S. Thacher and Mrs. Helen B. Anderson are assisting Mrs. Hedges with the arrangements for the affair.

In addition to the speakers, several selections will be presented by a quartet from the Republican Women's Glee club of Columbus.

Reservations have been received from Washington C. H., Chillicothe and Lancaster. Republican women of the county and all interested persons are invited to attend the luncheon. Mrs. R. F. Lilly, phone 485, is in charge of reservations.

Pickaway County Democratic Women's club under the leadership of Miss Nelle Oesterle, are planning a luncheon for Friday, Oct. 21 at 12 o'clock, at the New American Hotel coffee shop. All Democratic women of the county are invited to attend.

O. P. Van Schoik, chief relief examiner in the office of the auditor of state, will be guest speaker for the occasion.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made with Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker, Phone 893.

Daughters of 1812

The Major John Boggs chapter of the National Society, United States Daughters of 1812, met Monday at the home of Mrs. H. O. Pile, Edison avenue, for its October session. Mrs. Orion King, president, was in the chair and presided at the opening exercises and salute to the flag.

Mrs. Will Mack, secretary, and Mrs. G. L. Schlear, treasurer, read their reports. During the business meeting, plans for the annual guest day were discussed. It will be held this year at the home of Mrs. King, W. High street, Tuesday, Nov. 8, the affair marking the anniversary of organization. Tea will be served and guests invited for the occasion. Mrs. Helen B. Anderson and Mrs. Pile will present papers during the program of this meeting.

For the Monday program, Mrs. Pile read a well prepared paper on the "Battle of Lundy's Lane," the work of Mrs. Eleanor W. Biswell, who was unable to be present.

Members present included Mrs. King, Mrs. Schlear, Mrs. Mack, Mrs. Charles Fugley, Mrs. Hervey Sweeney, Mrs. Bryce Briggs, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Mrs. George Roth, Miss Charlotte Caldwell, Miss Clara Littleton and Mrs. Pile.

Mrs. Earl Price will entertain the club at its next session.

Monday Club Meets

Under the direction of the Home Arts division of Monday Club, an unusually interesting program was presented Monday evening. Chinese and Persian rugs, scarfs of felt, hand painted velvet pieces and crocheted articles for use in the various rooms of the home were on display as well as a modern furniture group in connection with three papers presented.

"Oriental rugs in the home" was the subject of Mrs. R. R. Bales' paper. She said that rugs in the home impart richness and represent refinement and that their manufacture was one of the earliest incentives for the blending of colors in such harmony as to please the eye and satisfy the mind.

Rugs contribute much to the comfort of the nomads, more than any other fabric. Rugs contribute largely to the comfort and luxury of the homes of city people and are among the more expensive items to be considered when furnishing. Much of the joy in owning a rare rug is to know the history of its makers. The Egyptians bestowed the greatest care and patience on the rugs they wove. There are two classes of weavers, the sedentary and the nomadic. The materials used cover a wide range and are indigenous to the place where the weaver is located, sheep wool, camel's hair, mohair from the angora goat, hair from the yak, cotton, linen, hemp, flax and jute.

"Homes in the Mauve Decade" was presented by Mrs. Charles Naumann, who mentioned that the Mauve decade covers a group of decades, 1860 to the Gay Nineties. Numerous furnishings in the homes of this period were described by Mrs. Naumann.

The center table for the parlor was an important piece of furniture. A lamp usually graced the center of the table, or a few chosen books, or the family album. Daguerreotype pictures were around the lamp. Scarfs were used to cover the tables, even the marble tops.

There were numerous hand painted plaques and tiles. Some of the plaques were of paper mache, fine metal and china. Silver and china graced the side-board. Artistic needle and crochet work was much in use in the bedrooms. "Homes in the Modern Manner," by Mrs. Sterling Lamb, stated that our homes of today are far different from the rock hewn shelter of the cave man, the Indian tepee, igloo of the Eskimo. Yet even today all too many of our homes provide little more than an effective shelter.

A 100 percent fireproof house can be built but for little more than one of wood frame and ordinary materials.

Landscaping, by the small home owner, should not be considered a luxury. The up-to-date home of today is one of the marvels of the age. Gone is all the drudgery from housekeeping. The workshop of the home, the kitchen, is given much attention in its conveniences.

Mrs. Hulse Hays presided during the business hour at the close of the evening. It was announced at his time that the Southeast District meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs would be held at Athens, Oct. 20-21. Delegates and alternates from Monday club will include Mrs. C. C. Watts, Miss Emily Yates, Mrs. Emmitt Crist and Miss Eleanor Snyder.

Lutheran Ladies' Society

The Ladies' Society of Trinity Lutheran church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parish house. This is the first afternoon meeting of the Fall season.

Walnut P. T. A.

Delegates to the Ohio convention of Parent-Teacher associations which will be held at Columbus, Nov. 2-4, were chosen at the Monday meeting of Walnut P. T. A. These include Mrs. F. T. Bowne, Mrs. Arthur Sark, Mrs. Alva May, Mrs. Wilbur Griffith, Mrs. Edward Traub, Mrs. Sam Brinker, the alternates being Mrs. Thaddeus Cromley, Mrs. Russell Hedges, and Mrs. Russell Trone.

Mrs. Bowne presided at the session and announced the standing committees for the year. The committees are: program, the Rev. Ernest Winterou, Judson Lanman, Miss Wilfred Rodebush, Miss Graves, Mrs. Hedges, Harold Fisher; membership, Mrs. Russell Trone, Mrs. Fred Dresbach, Mrs. Hedges, Mrs. Fred Glick, Mrs. Orville Baker, Mrs. Wilbur Griffith, Mrs. Nelson Bell, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Cecil Heath, Mrs. Ray Fausnaugh, Mrs. Howard Drizgacher; ways and means, Mrs. E. C. Reid, Mrs. Roy Frazier, Mrs. Alva May, Mrs. Sam Brinker, Mrs. Ralph Dresbach, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Drizgacher, Mrs. Harley Runkle, Mrs. Hedges, Mrs. Archie Peters, Mrs. Trone, Mrs. Page McCray, Mrs. Opal Betts and Mrs. Cromley; hospitality, Mrs. Robert Barr, Mrs. Harold Fisher, Mrs. Ashur Lamb, Mrs. Boyd Hutchins, Mrs. Cecil Noecker, Mrs. Albert Marshall, Mrs. Millard May, Mrs. Bryan Rager, Miss Olive Grimm; publicity, Mrs. Traub, Miss Williams, Miss Georgia Bowers and Miss Winifred Rodebush; music and arts, Miss Rodebush; Summer round-up, Miss Kerr.

It was decided to present a book to each room having 97 percent attendance for the month. Mr. Griffith, Miss Graves and Mr. Hughes form the book committee.

C. D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, gave an inspiring talk stressing objectives for parents and teachers for the common good of the child.

A cornet solo by Avid Clark, accompanied at the piano by Miss Rodebush, concluded the program.

SCHMIDT WORKS HIS PUNTERS ON PROPER KICKING

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11.—(UP)—According to reliable authorities, experience is the best teacher but the Ohio State football team doesn't want more than one lesson.

Sadder and wiser from a costly experience last Saturday the Bucks, prompted by Francis Schmidt, their chief football mentor, vowed today to strive for accuracy rather than distance in their future punting activities.

The first Buck punt by Mike Kabealo against Southern California was a 54-yard job, beautiful to behold but long enough and low enough to give the Trojan's speedy Granny Lansell time to catch the pigskin and finally outrace the Bucks to their goal.

This spectacular 82-yard touchdown run put the Bucks in a 7-point hole with the game less than two minutes under way and Schmidt doesn't want it to happen again.

Therefore, when the Scarlet and Gray opened preparations for renewal of the Big Ten football campaign, Schmidt's first order was a punting drill by Kabealo, recognized as one of the conference's best, and Sophomores Jim Langhurst and Jim Sexton. Their booting efforts were all pointed toward the sidelines where the pigskin either rolled out of bounds or was so close the receiver had little chance to get under way.

"We're going to be mean, real downright nasty, against the rest of our opponents and not give them a chance to return punts even if the ball only goes 20 yards," Schmidt said.

With the Bucks' first away-from-home game only five days off at Northwestern Saturday, the caustic Ohio State coach also prodded his pupils to become "downright mean" in their blocking.

CHANDLER AND FERRELL HAVE ARM OPERATIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Spud Chandler and Wesley Ferrell, New York Yankee pitchers, entered St. Elizabeth hospital today for elbow operations.

Both have chipped bones in their elbows. They will be attended by Dr. Emmett Walsh, club physician. Chandler, who won 14 and lost four, was inactive during the closing weeks of the season and did not participate in the Yanks' World Series victory over Chicago.

Ferrell, who came to the Yanks after being made a free agent by Washington in the final stages of the campaign, won only one game for his new club. Both players will be confined in the hospital about 10 days before returning to their homes—Chandler to Georgia and Ferrell to North Carolina.

'HOPPERS' CREATE MYSTERY

CANDIAC, Sask. —(UP)—Harry Scott, farmer, is still wondering today how thousands of grasshoppers during the winter entered his cellar, the windows and ventilators of which were well screened. Scott entered his closed cellar one spring day and found the wall clustered with grasshoppers.

Huckleberries and blueberries belong to entirely different plant families.

A huckleberry contains ten large seeds or nutlets and is more acid than blueberry, which contains numerous seeds.

TIGERS DRILLING FOR GAME WITH FRANKFORT '11'

Ross County Team To Put Up Good Game; Laterals Used In Offense

Still seeking their first victory of the season, Red and Black gridders were working today in preparation for the invasion Friday evening of a fast Frankfort varsity. The game is scheduled to start at 8 o'clock.

Coach Roy Black and his boys have not been in action since the Granville fray, but there has been no let up in practices. The Tiger mentor and his assistant, Tom Armstrong, have been teaching their charges blocking, both in the line and down field, where they have been weak in all three games played to date. The backfield boasts the presence of several fast boys, but they can't go anywhere as long as the secondary defense of the opposing team is still on its feet.

Improvement in the blocking game is expected Friday. The starting lineup for the Red and Black is far from definite with the backfield being juggled several times in an effort to find a hard driving and deadly blocking combination. Bob Liston, varsity tackle last year, who withdrew to enter a Virginia military school, has returned to Circleville high school and has enrolled, but he has not yet put in an appearance for football.

Injured Boys Return

All boys who were injured in the gruelling Worthington game are in uniform and able to go to work. They include Johnny Noggle, Marvin Jenkins and Clark Martin.

The Frankfort team has had a fair record, tying the Washington C. H. varsity, 6-6, and winning 35-0 from Chillicothe reserves. Outstanding players on the Ross county varsity are Wright and Robison, halfbacks, and Shuster, center, the latter being captain.

The team has developed a strong running attack mixed up with lateral passes that makes its play dangerous. Six laterals were tossed against Washington C. H.

Season tickets are good for the Frankfort game.

School officials are seeking to book a game for Pumpkin Show week, but they have been unable to decide on the night. It is understood that Bremen, fast Fairfield county school, is seeking a game for that week. The teams may hook up if a suitable night can be arranged.

Officials Friday night will be Walter Rosenthal of Capital U. and Ray Coleman of Ohio Wesleyan.

WISCONSIN U'S PREXY PROBING LIQUOR, GAMING

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 11.—(UP)—President Clarence A. Dykstra of the University of Wisconsin said today he had ordered an investigation of reports that students aboard a special train to an from the Wisconsin-Iowa football game at Iowa City Saturday had been provided with liquor and gambling devices.

"I don't know just what we can do about it," he said. He indicated that the case may be submitted to the faculty committee on student life, which has authority to expel students.

George Field, manager of a Madison night club frequented by students and a sponsor of one of the special cars on the train, said he had three slot machines and a dice game on his car.

"But they were only for my private party of about 30," he said. "The actual winnings for the house on the dice game were about $3.50."

Gabby Says Only Four Of His Team to Return

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(UP)—Gabby Hartnett, catcher-manager of the National League champion Cubs, placed all but four members of his team on the block today in preparation for a selling, buying and trading spree which may outdo any in baseball history.

He is bitterly disappointed because the team failed to win at least one of the World Series games from the New York Yankees. He said he wants a ball team with more power and is determined to get it.

He had hardly finished acknowledging the cheers of fans who greeted the team on its return from New York yesterday when he announced that every player except Pitchers Dizzy Dean, Bill Lee, and Clay Bryant and Third Baseman Stan Hack will be offered on the Winter trade mart.

Rest Must Go

"There'll be a shakeup," he said. "You can bet on that. Dean, Lee, Bryant and Hack are the only guys on this club who are sure of their jobs next year. As for the rest, I'll trade, sell or get rid of any or all of them. I want a ball club next year!"

He declined to name the players he would seek in trades or purchases but reports in baseball circles said he has his eye on Joe Medwick, St. Louis Cardinals' left fielder, as his first choice, and among others, Hank Leiber, center fielder for the New York Giants.

He said he would confer with Owner Phil K. Wrigley before he starts working on plans for next year. Wrigley is in New York and is not due to return for a week or 10 days.

Among the first slated to get the axe, if Hartnett can negotiate it, are Pitchers Tex Carleton and Larry French and Outfielders Frank Demaree and Carl Reynolds.

Reynolds failed to get a hit in the World Series. Captain and Second Baseman Billy Herman, who had a mediocre year and then faltered in the World Series, possibly may wind up as a major league manager. His name had been mentioned frequently in connection with openings in the Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers.

OUR SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

The First National Bank is the oldest national bank in Pickaway County and the fortieth oldest National Bank in the United States.

On October 10th, 1863 The First National Bank of Circleville was organized, under the national banking laws. The original board of directors consisted of Noah S. Gregg, Samuel Rogers, Samuel H. Ruggles, James E. Rice, Hanson Rock and Dr. Marcus Brown.

Dr. Brown was elected president and continued to fill this position until his death January 6, 1882. He was succeeded by J. A. Hawkes, who filled the office until his death on December 12, 1895. About a month after Mr. Hawkes death at a meeting of the stockholders held on January 14, 1896 there developed a contest for the control of the institution which resulted in the election of an entire new board of directors: L. H. Sweetman, C. E. Groce, Alexander Renick, Gottlieb Hartmeyer, B. F. Benford, and George J. McMullen.

Shortly afterward a full list of officers were elected, Mr. Sweetman being chosen president which office he held several years until his death, when B. F. Benford succeeded him. Mr. Benford continued in this position until June 15, 1936. Mr. George Foresman was then elected president and has continued in that capacity. The present board of directors consists of John D. Hummel, C. A. Leist, Ralph Curtain, George F. Grand-Girard, William T. Ulm and George P. Foresman.

The First National Bank stands today as one of the most significant monuments to the successful community which it serves. Year after year it has guarded, fortified and helped to build the financial interests of Circlevillians and Pickaway Countians. Collectively and individually its officers have served with faith, courage and foresight.

Investor, borrower, saver—large and small—turn daily to this old established bank in a knowledge and feeling of confidence, security and helpfulness to be gained.

Menaced by Mob

SECRET police and detectives placed a close guard about Theodore Cardinal Innitzer, 62-year-old archbishop of Austria, following the storming of his palace in Vienna by a yelling mob of anti-Catholics which battered down doors, broke windows and hurled furniture into a roaring bonfire in historic St. Stephen's Square. The rioters, many of whom wore Nazi uniforms, screamed threats at the cardinal. Police said they were searching for a group of "irresponsible" Nazis had been angered by a sermon in which the cardinal protested against government interference with the church and called on Catholic youth to maintain its faith in spite of any hardships.

ANTI-CATHOLIC RIOTERS JAILED

Hitler Investigates Fight At Historic Cathedral St. Stephen

BERLIN, Oct. 11—(UP)—Msgr. Cesare Orsenigo, papal nuncio to Germany, formally protested to the foreign office today against anti-Catholic riots in Vienna.

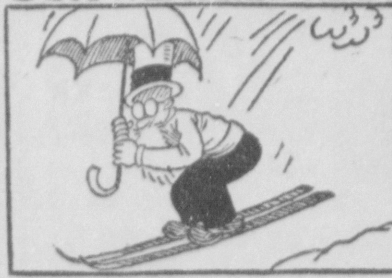

VIENNA, Oct. 11—(UP)—A big scale round up of anti-Catholic rioters was started today by Nazi authorities as Adolf Hitler intervened personally to investigate disorders centering at the historic cathedral of St. Stephen.

Joseph Buerckel, supreme German Nazi commissioner for Austria, assumed charge of the local investigation and was reported to have ordered that an example was to be made of the men who, on Friday and Saturday nights, rioted before the cathedral, invaded the palace of Cardinal Innitzer, archbishop of Vienna, and burned a crucifix, a painting of the Madonna, and prayer books.

It was understood that several dozen suspects already were under arrest.

Further, it was noticed that minor officials of the Nazi party, most of them dressed unobtrusively in civilian clothes, were guarding a number of Vienna's churches, monasteries and cloisters. Buerckel was reported to have ordered this watch against any new outbreak.

Motorist Killed As Car Overtakes

LOSS OF BLOOD FATAL TO COLUMBUS MAN IN ROUTE 23 WRECK

William Anderson, W. P. A. Watchman, Struck in Neck By Glass

William Anderson, 40, of 819 Cleveland avenue, Columbus, was killed shortly before midnight Monday when his car struck a culvert and overturned on Route 23 about three miles North of South Bloomfield.

Mr. Anderson was caught under the car as it overturned. His throat was cut by glass. He bled to death, officers said.

The cause of the accident is unknown. Mr. Anderson was driving southward. Relatives said he was enroute to Hurricane, W. Va., to meet his wife.

The culvert was on the opposite side of the highway. His car had crossed the road and traveled a short distance before colliding with the culvert, officers said. Mr. Anderson was riding alone and no witnesses to the accident have been located.

Mr. Anderson was a watchman employed on W.P.A. He is survived by his widow and three sisters, all of Columbus. The body was removed to the Schlegel funeral home in Ashville until arrangements for services are completed.

Two women motorists, whose names were not learned, reported the accident. Sheriff Charles Radcliff and Deputy Robert Adkins investigated the tragedy.

Verdict of accidental death was returned by Coroner C. E. Bowers who said death was due to an acute hemorrhage. In addition to the throat cut, severing a jugular vein, Mr. Anderson had a deep cut under the left arm, cuts over both eyes, and his low lip was cut.

FIVE AIDES OF ELYRIA SHERIFF OUT OF JOBS

ELYRIA, Oct. 11—(UP)—Five of the nine Lorain county deputy sheriffs either resigned or were dismissed today because of differences with Sheriff William F. Grall, who testified in common pleas court last week that he accepted "protection" payments from slot machine interests.

Sheriff Grall, who has refused to resign from office, was visited early today by Chief Deputy John Fulton and Deputies John Jude and Emil Kubischke, who demanded his resignation immediately. After they had talked for some time, the three deputies were dismissed.

Later, Deputies John Hudak and Michael Bulzoni telephoned their resignations to the sheriff "because of what you admitted during the trial."

The trial of five persons accused of bribing police officials in connection with slot machine operations was resumed today. Sheriff Grall had testified that the defendants paid $2.50 weekly for "protection" on each slot machine.

One of the defendants, David Crawford, sr., 71, was brought into court on a stretcher today. His illness from a heart ailment caused postponement of yesterday's court session.

Other defendants are David Crawford, jr., William Peer, Harry Ziegman and Stanton Hobbs.

Before the trial was resumed today, Former Chief Deputy Fulton filed application for the sheriff's job with the county commissioners, "in case there is a vacancy."

HERRMANN TO TAKE CHAIR AS LEGION'S COMMANDER

Installation of new officers of Howard Hall post, American Legion, will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m.

The new officers are Karl J. Herrmann, commander; Lorin Duddleson, first vice commander; D. A. Yates, second vice commander; William Betts, Jr., treasurer; James Shea, adjutant; James Cook, chaplain; Ralph Schumm and Joseph Lynch, members of the executive committee, and Howard Anderson and John Goodchild, sergeants at arms.

COUNTY TEAMS VIE FOR HONOR

Vincent Brothers, Mace Enter Fine Pullers In National Dairy Event

A team owned by Vincent Brothers, New Holland, pulled 2,800 pounds a distance of 27½ feet Monday to qualify for the lightweight contest being conducted in connection with the National Dairy Show, Columbus.

Six lightweight teams survived the elimination rounds. Fifteen more lightweight teams were to pull Tuesday afternoon to qualify for the finals scheduled for Wednesday afternoon. Heavyweights will pull on Thursday and Friday. Thirty-four teams are entered in the heavyweight contests. Lightweight teams are under 3,000 pounds, heavyweights over that figure.

There was a possibility that a new record in the lightweight contest may be established. The team owned by Harley Mace, New Holland, holder of the record, was to pull Tuesday. This team tugged a load of more than 21 tons at the Coshocton fair this year.

Horses owned by John Day, Springfield, world's lightweight champion pullers for several years, are in the contest. This team qualified Monday.

STUDENTS, LOST 48 HOURS, SAVED FROM CAVERNS

DOUGHERTY, Okla., Oct. 11—(UP)—Two college students were taken, alive and unharmed, from the mysterious caverns of the Arbuckle mountains today. They had been lost in the dank, pitch-black underground wilderness for more than 48 hours.

Parents and friends had feared that they had drowned or were hopelessly lost in unexplored caverns so extensive men, according to Indian legend, have entered them and were never seen again. Their automobile and their clothing were found near a cave's mouth so small they had crawled in on hands and knees.

The youths were Thurman K. Treadwell, Jr., 18, and Hugh Glen Munroe, 17, students at the East Central State Teachers college. They had put on their bathing suits, crawled into the cave, swam and waded across a subterranean pool a quarter of a mile long, finally reaching dry ground. There they had lost their flashlight, and, believing their only chance of rescue was to wait for a searching party, they had stayed there in the cold and blackness until a party arrived early today.

Treadwell is the son of the head of the college's extension department. He and Munroe set out for the caverns from their home in Ada Sunday, telling their parents they were going to catch lizards for study in their biology classes.

Twins Offered for Adoption

HELENE (left) and Patricia Mulcrone, of Marble Hall, Pa., 12-year-old twins, have been offered for adoption by their father, who says he loves them so devotedly that he cannot bear the thought of his poverty robbing them of their gifts. They are pretty, have rich contralto voices, can play piano, draw and dance.

Auto Firms Rush Output Although Strikes Loom

DETROIT, Oct. 11—(UP)—United Automobile Workers union officials meet today with officers of two of the auto industry's "big three" corporations in an attempt to settle a controversy over the U. A. W.'s demand for a 32-hour work week and to iron out grievances brought by union members.

At one meeting, R. J. Thomas, U. A. W. vice-president, and Herman Weckler, vice-president of Chrysler Corp., will confer on the 32-hour week question which last Friday resulted in 9,000 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing Co., and 6,000 Plymouth employees being made idle.

At the other, Jack Little, president of the Flint U. A. W. Local 156, will present grievances of Buick members to officials of the General Motors Corp. It was believed also that Little would bring up the 32-hour week with the General Motors heads.

Homer Martin, U. A. W. president, said that "no difficulty" was anticipated in obtaining the 32-hour week at Chrysler plants.

3,000 To Be Called The Chevrolet division of General Motors announced at Flint Monday that 3,000 men would be called back to work within two weeks.

In a statement to U. A. W. shop stewards, Ted La Duke, chairman of the union bargaining committee, said he believed Chevrolet's plans for rehiring 3,000 men would "change the picture for an immediate demand for a 32 hour week."

Meanwhile in Lansing, C. L. McCuen, Oldsmobile general manager, announced that "an unprecedented volume of advance retail orders" has forced the rehiring of 2,350 laid-off employees who will go on the night shift to meet production demands.

It was believed that Little's meeting with General Motors heads would avert a threatened general strike at the Flint Buick plant. The U. A. W. charges that Buick violated seniority provisions of its contract.

It appeared likely that if the union is successful in negotiating a 32-hour week at either Chrysler or General Motors, the "spread the work" movement would be extended to all manufacturers with U. A. W. contract.

OHIO PENSIONER SLAIN BY BULLET FIRED IN WINDOW

CHARDON, O., Oct. 11—(UP)—Authorities today hunted the person who fired a rifle bullet through the window the home of Decker R. Beardsley, 81-year-old state pensioner, killing him instantly.

Beardsley, a widower, was listening to his radio when he was slain. His body was found by a neighbor at East Claridon, three miles east of here.

Officers have received previous complaints against bullets being fired from automobiles in the vicinity.

WALLACE TAKES LEAD IN DRIVE TO AID FARMERS

Expanded Markets Sought To Save U. S. Program From Collapse

DIRECT HELP STUDIED

More Drastic Reductions In 1939 Allotments May Be Ordered

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Wallace took personal command of a drive for expanded markets today to save the New Deal farm program from collapse under unprecedented surpluses.

He has reorganized his entire administrative staff to direct a revised program intended to (1) expand domestic markets for farm products and (2) increase direct federal aid to "give farmers a fair share of the national income."

Five years of New Deal efforts to solve the farm problem are jeopardized by unmarketable surpluses and the lowest prices since 1933. Reports of farm dissatisfaction have increased and critics have assailed the entire program.

1937 Production Higher

The department's October crop board report yesterday showed aggregate crop production at the highest since 1920, with the exception of 1937. Unusually favorable weather resulted in bumper crops despite wide powers given Wallace by the farm act last winter to control plantings.

Two successive years of bumper crops have resulted in an all-time record supply of approximately 25,250,000 bales of cotton; a record supply of 1,090,000,000 bushels of wheat, and a corn supply of 2,780,000,000 bushels, second largest on record.

The overflow from the "ever normal granary" established in the 1938 agricultural act has swept prices of principal crops down 25 to 50 percent in the last six months. Wheat and corn prices have been hardest hit.

Farm administration officials said that Wallace had abandoned hope of providing a solution through expanded foreign markets. Instead, he has turned to development of new markets at home.

There must be "action," Wallace said, "to encourage greater consumption of cotton in ways that would raise the standard of living of all our people." He appointed a commission to study means of getting more clothing and food into the hands of the "one-third which are underfed and underclothed."

Efforts to expand exports through a government subsidy have been disappointing. The wheat subsidy program, adopted two months ago and designed to "meet all competition," has re-

Edward D. Walker, 68, died at his home, 118 Hayward avenue, at 6:30 p. m. Monday following a long illness. Death was due to complications.

Mr. Walker was born Nov. 1, 1869. He is survived by his widow, Eliza Jane; six children, Mrs. Sherman Leasure, Mrs. Albert Heath, Mrs. Raymond Goodman, and Thomas and Charles, all of Circleville, and Harry of Columbus; one brother, Ross Walker of Marion, and a sister, Mrs. Alonzo Shockley, Mt. Sterling, 11 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held in the home at 2:30 p. m. Thursday with the Rev. L. S. Metzler officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery in charge of H. E. Deffenbaugh & Son.

REPUBLICANS ARRANGE RURAL CAMPAIGN TALKS

One of a series of rural Republican meetings will be held Nov. 3 in Five Points with others to be arranged in Pickaway county prior to the general election. Tom A. Renick, chairman of the county executive committee, said that Ray W. Davis, ex-prosecutor, will be chairman of the Five Points gathering although the speakers have not yet been appointed. Other meetings will be held in New Holland, Commercial Point, Derby and Williamsport with a county-wide meeting to be held in Circleville as a climax to the campaign.

LEWIS OFFERS TO LEAVE C. I. O.

Green Must Resign As A. F. Of L. Chief, Union Leader Declares

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11—(UP)—John L. Lewis said today he is willing to quit as chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization if William Green will retire as head of the American Federation of Labor.

Lewis made his offer shortly after Green had told the American Federation of Labor convention at Houston that peace between the federation and C. I. O. was impossible as long as Lewis remained at the head of the C. I. O.

In outlining his proposal, Lewis said today that if he and Green quit their respective posts:

"It then may be possible for the remaining leaders of the Federation of Labor and the remaining leaders of the C. I. O. to conclude a peace pact, in which event the contribution made by Mr. Green and myself would be of some value."

Speaking to newspapermen, Lewis said that there may be "some virtue" behind the A. F. of L. suggestions that he retire from official participation as a peace gesture and added "obviously the C. I. O. could function without."

'PAINTERS' FLEE WITH VALUABLE JEWELS AS LOOT

BOSTON, Oct. 11—(UP)—Posing as painters but wielding acetylene torches safe-crackers stole $125,000 in jewelry from a jewelry store, police disclosed today.

Many persons, including city hall employees, saw the "painters" working Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday. Officials of the store, Gordon brothers, said the burglars, working openly in the adjacent vacant store, had cut neatly through the only section of wall not wired with a burglar alarm and cut open the safe with torches. Details were not disclosed until today.

A truck bearing the name of a large painting firm, stopped at the vacant store's rear door Saturday noon. Tools and other equipment, wrapped in painters' canvas, were unloaded.

Departing with pouches filled with unset opals, diamonds, rubies, pearls and emeralds and bracelets, necklaces and rings, the gang left behind the painters' clothes and other equipment.

YOUTH INJURED AS GAS IN OLD TRUCK EXPLODES

William R. Jackson, 11, son of Mrs. Ethel Tigner, Weldon avenue, was burned about the face and head Monday evening when the gasoline tank on an old truck body exploded.

The youth was playing around the old truck with Clarence Moss, 11, also of Weldon avenue. The tank exploded when the Moss boy tossed a match into it.

The Jackson boy was taken to Berger hospital for treatment.

HUNDREDS FEAR LIVES IN DANGER UNDER GERMANY

Homeless Seek Haven In America; Appeal Given To Commissioner

PRAGUE IN DIFFICULTY

Tiny Republic Unable To Care For All Fleeing Sudeten Regions

PRAGUE, Oct. 11—(UP)—Austrian and German refugees, some of whom fear death under Nazi rule, appealed for United States aid today in finding asylum in America or other countries.

Some 700 refugees at Brno asked the help of the United States legation. The appeal was handed to Sir Neil Malcolm, high commissioner of refugees of the League of Nations. Malcolm arrived yesterday.

Many Fear Death The appeal said that many of the refugees would be sent to concentration camps and some faced execution, if they entered Germany or came under German rule once again in the German-occupied regions of Czechoslovakia.

The Prague government faced the problem of finding homes for 60,000 refugees, all of whom originally had fled from Germany and Austria. The shrinking boundaries of the little republic made it difficult for them to remain here.

Many of the refugees had been scheduled to leave tonight but the government postponed their departure owing to the danger they faced if they were forced to return to Germany.

Many of them found it impossible to get visas to leave Czechoslovakia through Rumania. The Hungarian and Polish frontiers were virtually closed to them.

Hungarian Troops Enter Czech Land

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Oct. 11—(UP)—Hungarian troops crossed the Czechoslovak border at 11:45 a. m. today and occupied the town of Zatorajauhely, while delegations from the two countries resumed their territorial conference at the border town of Komarom.

It was a "symbolic" occupation, to which the Czechs consented in a gesture of goodwill.

A company of engineers, the vanguard of troops, inspected the international bridge for possibly hidden bombs, found it safe, and signaled for the marchers to proceed.

Large crowds stood on both ends of the bridge, cheering. They waved Hungarian flags and sang the Hungarian national anthem. The Czech side of the bridge was decorated with flags and flowers.

The Czechoslovak government ordered civilians in nine border districts, extending from Dumas-zerdahely on the West to Kiraly Helmece on the East, to surrender their arms, leading to the belief in Hungarian government circles that the Czechs intended to cede the districts to Hungary.

COL. LINDBERGH SILENT ABOUT RUSSIAN CHARGE

BERLIN, Oct. 11—(UP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived at the Tempelhof airfield here today at 9:05 a. m. (Circleville time) from Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

A United Press correspondent informed Lindbergh of the letter published by the Russian newspaper Pravda charging that Lindbergh was a Fascist sympathizer and that he had belittled the Soviet air force.

"I have nothing to say," Lindbergh replied.

Lindbergh and his wife were met by Col. Truman Smith, United States military attaché, and Lieut. Col. Carganiko, commander of the airport.

They were accompanied to the city by Col. Smith, with whom they were expected to stay while in Berlin.

WALLACE TAKES LEAD IN DRIVE TO AID FARMERS

sulted in the sale of about 10,000,000 bushels of the 100,000,000-bushel goal.

Indicating a shift of emphasis to the subsidizing of domestic consumption, one proposal was that the government sell cotton, wheat and possibly corn on which it has made loans to processors at prices which would enable them to market the products cheaply among low income groups.

Wallace raised the Surplus Commodities corporation to full bureau rank under Jesse W. Tapp. It already has begun a program under which $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 of farm surpluses will be purchased during the next 12 months for free distribution to needy.

Looking toward a long-range program to increase the farmer's share of the national income, Wallace proposed a permanent subsidy to be financed by the re-employment of processing taxes declared unconstitutional by the supreme court almost three years ago in the Hoosier mills case.

Another approach to the problem of surpluses will be still more drastic reductions in 1939 acreage allotments, farm administration officials said. Wheat farmers have been given allotments one-third below 1938 plantings over protests from some that it would mean bankruptcy.

Cotton farmers, who reduced plantings 7,000,000 acres this year, face still another cut next year as a result of an unexpectedly large crop of 12,212,000 bales. Growers already have approved marketing restrictions and the government has announced loans averaging 8.25 cents a pound.

Wheat farmers are receiving loans averaging 59 cents a bushel and loans averaging 61 cents a bushel on corn this fall now appear almost certain. The crop board forecast of corn production totaling 2,459,316,000 bushels, coupled with farm prices averaging 48 cents a bushel, made loans virtually mandatory under the farm act.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA
Bubbling with the humor and naturalness that made the original Kate Douglas Wiggin story one of the best-sellers of its day, the film version of "Mother Carey's Chickens" opens Wednesday at the Cliftona, as a special attraction to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the theatre.

Closely following the book, the film deals with the interesting careers of the Careys. The head of the family, a naval officer, dies during the war with Spain, and his wife and four children, left penniless save for a scanty pension, try to carry on as their father would have wished.

AT THE GRAND
Poking good-natured fun at Hollywood publicity methods through a series of adventures involving a temperamental screen star and a bare-brained press agent, "The Affairs of Annabel" brings Jack Oakie and Lucille Ball in their first co-starring comedy. Miss Ball, recently seen in "Stage Door" and "Joy of Living," displays her talents as the harassed star-heroine, while Oakie is said to have his funniest role to date as the talking publicist. The picture is at the Grand Theatre.

WILL ROCK COMING
Will Rock, the successor to the Great Howard Thurston, booked for an engagement of two days at the Grand theatre, starting Wednesday, will bring the largest and greatest necromantic extravaganza ever seen in these parts. Not only has Mr. Rock purchased all the equipment of the late Howard Thurston, including his latest mysteries and unbelievable illusions, but he has engaged for his tour several of Thurston's greatest assistants. Mr. Rock himself has really been the "Right Arm" of the World's famous magician for years.

AT THE CIRCLE
A western star who doesn't sing—who doesn't even play a musical instrument in fact comes to the Circle theatre this afternoon and tonight. The non-musical star is Jack Randall ace performer who rides, fights and shoots to save a falsely accused brother in "The Mexicali Kid."

TWO APPLE CROPS IN YEAR
Transparent apples on the farm of J. H. Peters, East Ringgold, haven't heard about the dangers of crop surpluses because they have little regard for laws governing production. About July 1, Mr. Peters picked a fine crop. Today, he is exhibiting samples from the second crop of apples from the same orchard.

You know I've been doin' a lot's a thinkin' lately about the way these Hollywood actors dress and I finally decided that the reason they dress that way is because if they didn't, nobody could tell they were actors. The same is true of people in pret near any profession. Musicians dress like musicians and firemen dress like firemen.

When our chief of police down home started to go to the policemen's convention at Kansas City, somebody asked him if he was gonna wear his police uniform. He says, "I should say I am—the last police convention we had at St. Louis, we all wore civilian clothes and half of us was arrested as suspicious characters!"

Deep Sea Diver Relates Thrills, Shows Curios

Thrilling experience gained from 21 years as a deep sea diver were brought to Circleville Monday night by Robert M. Zimmerman in the second entertainment in a series being presented by the Circleville Kiwanis club.

In addition to his dramatic narrative of work on the ocean's floor, he had a large display of deep-sea curios, including fish, corals, shells and sponges. One sponge displayed would hold nine gallons of water.

Mr. Zimmerman told of one occasion when he was shipwrecked and his leg broken. He and some natives swam to to uninhabited island. His leg was set by placing stakes under his armpits and pulling his leg against a palm tree. Mr. Zimmerman and the natives lived on the island for six weeks before being rescued. When he visited a doctor he learned the bone had been set perfectly.

Difficulties Explained
In displaying the numerous shells in his collection, he explained some of the difficulty experienced in obtaining them. Some fastened to rocks will crush fingers if an attempt is made to pry them loose.

Various types of diving equipment and the hazards of deep sea diving were discussed.

Mr. Zimmerman said he had experienced little difficulty with sharks. "The octopus is not as dangerous as he is pictured," he said. The fish dreaded by all divers is the barracuda. He related an experience he and another diver had with two barracuda. One was impaled on an iron pole by Mr. Zimmerman. The other, attacking his companion, bit an iron bar before he was struck on the head and killed by Mr. Zimmerman.

His deepest dive, he said, was 251 feet and at that depth the pressure was 120 pounds per square inch. He explained the cause of "the bends," and the treatment given.

After the lecture Mr. Zimmerman permitted the crowd to inspect his various deep sea curios. The lecture was presented at the Circleville high school auditorium.

POLICE SEARCH FOR KILLER OF MARY COYLE, 17

LARCHMONT, N. Y., Oct. 11—(UP)—The body of Mary Coyle, 17, who had earlier been reported missing, was found today behind a movie theatre in this smart suburb.

Police said she had been beaten to death. The face and head had been battered, as if by a rock, police reported soon after viewing the body.

The girl's parents reported her missing at 2:15 a. m. from their home in New Rochelle, which adjoins Larchmont.

The body was lying face upward at the foot of a long flight of concrete steps descending behind several store buildings to a yard by the Larchmont theatre and two blocks from the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad station.

The body was discovered by Mike, a cocker spaniel belonging to Alexander Branzner, operator of a beauty shop. The dog's barking attracted Branzner, who notified police.

Police Chief William J. Keresey of Larchmont said he believed the girl was killed elsewhere and the body brought by automobile to the place where it was found.

Police were investigating a report that Miss Coyle was seen at about 8 o'clock last night on her way to a service at the Holy Name Catholic church here. New Rochelle detectives said the girl was intensely religious.

COLUMBUS, Oct. 11—(UP)—Walter Oakley, Sr., 37, struck by a brick thrown by his 17-year-old son during an argument two days ago, died today without regaining consciousness.

Walter Oakley, Jr., was exonerated by authorities after an investigation of his story that his father became angry at him and started chasing him with an axe. The youth was described by his mother as a "model boy." He was said to have been playing the piano when his father asked him to do some work. The father was said to have become angry because the boy did not hear his command.

Four Transports On Way To Cadiz; Soldiers To Quit Spanish War

BRITISH PACT FAVORED

New Disagreements Hinted Between Italian And French Officials

ROME, Oct. 11—(UP)—Four Italian troop ships left Naples today to embark 10,000 Italian soldiers whom Premier Benito Mussolini is withdrawing from the Spanish civil war.

It was planned that the troop ships, Liguria, Piemonte, Calabria and Sardegna, should embark the troops at Cadiz, in Nationalist Spain near the Straits of Gibraltar, and land them at Naples, October 20.

Disclosures that the ships had left came at a time when negotiations between the Italian and British governments over application of their friendship agreement seemed deadlocked.

They were unable to agree, it was indicated, on what would constitute a "substantial" withdrawal of Italians from the Spanish civil war.

Recognition Sought

It had been apparent that the Italian government hoped that the present withdrawal would bring British recognition of Italy's conquest of Ethiopia, and thus lead to early application of the friendship agreement.

But the British wanted a "substantial" withdrawal which would exceed to a considerable extent the "token" withdrawal decided on by Mussolini. Also it appeared that Britain and France were working toward a plan of mediation to end the war.

The new complication in British-Italian relations developed coincidentally with signs of new disagreement between Italy and France.

Virginio Gayda, regarded as a mouthpiece for the government, attacked certain sections of French opinion in his newspaper, Giornale D'Italia, on the ground that they did not give Mussolini sufficient credit for arranging the four power conference at which the Czechoslovak crisis was liquidated.

HUGE PUFFBALL FOUND IN E. RINGGOLD WOODS

One of the largest puffballs ever found in this vicinity is on display at the Circleville Public Library. It weighs three and a half pounds.

The great puffball was found Monday afternoon by Ralph Roby, Jr., 17, of 352 E. Mill street, in a woods on the Earl Riegel farm near Ringgold.

The globe-shaped member of the fungi family measures 30 inches around the long way, 24 inches around the middle.

Although many puffballs are found this time of year, few are so large.

Cliftona to Begin Eleventh Year

New marquee and sign make theatre attractive.

The Cliftona theatre, Tuesday, celebrated its tenth anniversary by continuing extensive improvements that, in the last few months, have included installation of new motion picture super-simplex mechanism which makes a more steady and pronounced picture, a new sound screen, which gives better and more even light, a new marquee and a remodeled sign. Improvements will be continued from time to time to keep the Cliftona one of central Ohio's finest picture houses.

The new marquee and sign have added immensely to the beauty of the theatre's exterior. The marquee has a white ceiling with 110 light bulbs, has four rows of bulbs at each corner with an alternating chasing effect. The sign, built, up on the marquee, extends 18 feet above the marquee and has 115 bulbs on the chasing border of the sign. The word "Cliftona" contains 96 red bulbs. The changeable sign consists of new silhouette letters with a background of white opal glass. The facing of the marquee contains several tubes of blue, vivid green and red neon.

"Our program," Richard Williamson, theatre manager, said, "is planned to help provide better entertainment for our patrons."

The popular picture house shows all Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount, United Artists and Columbia releases.

Many of the outstanding pictures of the year have been contracted for by the Cliftona management, including Boys Town, which opens next Sunday; Too Hot to Handle, There Goes My Heart, Carefree, Drums, Blockheads, the new Laurel and Hardy film; Professor Beware, You Can't Take It With You, Stablesmates, Sweethearts, Men With Wings, The Cowboy and the Lady, The Great Waltz and Listen Darling.

The Cliftona has joined the $250,000 movie quiz contest to enable its patrons to take advantage of the national event.

Two New Street Lights Operating In Ashville

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

Two new street lights were installed Monday by Cecil Scott, Bob Walden and Charles Fout and located, one near the home of Frank Grice on North Scioto street and the other on the corner near the home of Philip Daley.

Ashville—Out to the park Monday to see what was going on in way of recreation at the play grounds. Several of the boys were busy at football. The high school girls at the school grounds were having a ball game and having a lively time and enjoying the warm sunshine. William Myers in charge of the boys' playground, was busy marking off the football field for a game to be held sometime this week. Mrs. Nance and Miss Conrad were both on the grounds acting as supervisors. Mr. Myers told me that his working hours are from 3 to 7 each afternoon except Saturday when 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. is play time. And while so near to Cecil Scott's waterworks plant, thought we'd better give it the "once over" they all tell you about so often. Was very agreeably surprised to see the spick and span condition in which everything is kept. And for fear some of you might forget about it, the Ashville waterworks plant ranks first of all the villages in the state in being well kept and cared for. And that's something. We tried to discover the power lawn mower which is doing such a good job of mowing, but the working tools about the place, we guess, are kept locked up and out of sight, so we were not successful in finding it.

Ashville—Clyde Brinker's bowling alley season opening was well attended and much enjoyed by the bowling fans. John Messick with his 168 score was highest for men and Mrs. Frances Grant carried away the honors with a score of 108.

Ashville—Three of our nimrods hied themselves off to the Chillicothe hills at an early hour Monday to bring home their full legal allotment, an even dozen, of squirrels, it being the last day for this sport, for them. They did not have the success they had expected, bagging but four. Rev. Fudge, one; George Peters, one; E. F. Schlegel, two. The boys tell us some wild stories about the number and size of the mosquitoes down there but we refuse to quote them for fear of wobbling off that straight and truthful path we sometimes try to follow.

Ashville—Dick Peters and family are now residents, temporarily, of West Union, Adams county, Mr. Peters being in charge as engineer of the

SANDS THAT "BARK"

"Barking" sand, "singing" sand, and gaily colored sands from many nations will be among the hobbies described—and heard!—on Dave Elman's "Hobby Lobby" Wednesday, at 8:30 p. m.

The featured hobbyist is Homer A. Davis, of Cambridge, Mass., who has spent a lifetime collecting 820 specimens of sand from different parts of the world. Represented in the collection are sands that actually "bark" and "sing" as well as those of every conceivable hue and color.

have everybody beat—Vipers, rattlers, copper heads. And this is no True or Not snake story. Killed a viper himself just a few days ago. Snake bite medicine? He didn't say.

Ashville—A double feed all in one evening is not too much if the capacity is not lacking. The Methodist brotherhoods of the county are giving their Fall Annual big feed over at Commercial Point tomorrow, Wednesday evening, and the Scioto Valley grangers are doing the same kind of thing up at Grange Hall, North of Ashville.

Ashville—The male teaching force of our schools attended the Lutheran Brotherhood meeting and banquet at Grove City Monday evening. Composing the party were C. A.

Higley, E. F. Martin, Nolan Murphy, Luther Fullen and Edwin Erwin.

Republican, Democratic Women Plan Activities

Mrs. John Bricker and Mrs. Robert Taft to Talk

Mrs. John Bricker and Mrs. Robert Taft will be the speakers at the Pickaway County Republican Women's Luncheon, Friday, Oct. 14, at the New American Hotel coffee shop.

Mrs. B. T. Hedges, county chairman, is in charge of the luncheon which will be served at 12 o'clock. Mrs. E. S. Thacher and Mrs. Helen B. Anderson are assisting Mrs. Hedges with the arrangements for the affair.

In addition to the speakers, several selections will be presented by a quartet from the Republican Women's Glee club of Columbus.

Reservations have been received from Washington C. H., Chillicothe and Lancaster. Republican women of the county and all interested persons are invited to attend the luncheon. Mrs. R. F. Lilly, phone 485, is in charge of reservations.

Pickaway County Democratic Women's club under the leadership of Miss Nelle Osterle, are planning a luncheon for Friday, Oct. 21 at 12 o'clock, at the New American Hotel coffee shop. All Democratic women of the county are invited to attend.

O. P. Van Schoik, chief relief examiner in the office of the auditor of state, will be guest speaker for the occasion.

Reservations for the luncheon should be made with Mrs. C. K. Hunsicker, Phone 893.

Daughters of 1812

The Major John Boggs chapter of the National society, United States Daughters of 1812, met Monday at the home of Mrs. H. O. Pile, Edison avenue, for its October session. Mrs. Orion King, president, was in the chair and presided at the opening exercises and salute to the flag.

Mrs. Will Mack, secretary, and Mrs. G. L. Schlear, treasurer, read their reports. During the business meeting, plans for the annual guest day were discussed. It will be held this year at the home of Mrs. King, W. High street, Tuesday, Nov. 8, the affair marking the anniversary of organization. Tea will be served and guests invited for the occasion. Mrs. Helen B. Anderson and Mrs. Pile will present papers during the program of this meeting.

For the Monday program, Mrs. Pile read a well prepared paper on the "Battle of Lundy's Lane", the work of Mrs. Eleanor W. Biswell, who was unable to be present.

Members present included Mrs. King, Mrs. Schlear, Mrs. Mack, Mrs. Charles Pugsley, Mrs. Hervey Sweyer, Mrs. Bryce Briggs, Mrs. Ella Hornbeck, Mrs. George Roth, Miss Charlotte Caldwell, Miss Clara Littleton and Mrs. Pile.

Mrs. Earl Price will entertain the club at its next session.

Monday Club Meets

Under the direction of the Home Arts division of Monday Club, an unusually interesting program was presented Monday evening. Chinese and Persian rugs, scarfs of felt, hand painted velvet pieces and crocheted articles for use in the various rooms of the home were on display as well as a modern furniture group in connection with three papers presented.

"Oriental rugs in the home" was the subject of Mrs. R. R. Bales' paper. She said that rugs in the home impart richness and represent refinement and that their manufacture was one of the earliest incentives for the blending of colors in such harmony as to please the eye and satisfy the mind.

Rugs contribute much to the comfort of the nomads, more than any other fabric. Rugs contribute largely to the comfort and luxury of the homes of city people and are among the more expensive items to be considered when furnishing. Much of the joy in owning a rare rug is to know the history of its makers. The Egyptians bestowed the greatest care and patience on the rugs they wove. There are two classes of weavers, the sedentary and the nomadic. The materials used cover a wide range and are indigenous to the place where the weaver is located, sheep wool, camel's hair, mohair from the angora goat, hair from the yak, cotton, linen, hemp, flax and jute.

"Homes in the Mauve Decade" was presented by Mrs. Charles Naumann, who mentioned that the Mauve decade covers a group of decades, 1860 to the Gay Nineties. Numerous furnishings in the homes of this period were described by Mrs. Naumann.

The center table for the parlor was an important piece of furniture. A lamp usually graced the center of the table, or a few chosen books, or the family album. Daguerreotype pictures were around the lamp. Scarfs were used to cover the tables, even the marble tops.

There were numerous hand painted plaques and tiles. Some of the plaques were of paper mache, fine metal and china. Silver and china graced the side-board. Artistic needle and crochet work was much in use in the bedrooms. "Homes in the Modern Manner," by Mrs. Sterling Lamb, stated that our homes of today are far different from the rock hewn shelter of the cave man, the Indian tepee, igloo of the Eskimo. Yet even today all too many of our homes provide little more than an effective shelter.

A 100 percent fireproof house can be built but for little more than one of wood frame and ordinary materials.

Landscaping, by the small home owner, should not be considered a luxury. The up-to-date home of today is one of the marvels of age. Gone is all the drudgery from housekeeping. The workshop of the home, the kitchen, is given much attention in its conveniences.

Mrs. Hulise Hays presided during the business hour at the close of the evening. It was announced at his time that the Southeast District meeting of the General Federation of Women's clubs would be held at Athens, Oct. 20-21. Delegates and alternates from Monday club will include Mrs. C. C. Watts, Miss Emily Yates, Mrs. Emmitt Crist and Miss Eleanor Snyder.

Lutheran Ladies' Society

The Ladies' Society of Trinity Lutheran church will meet Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parish house. This is the first afternoon meeting of the Fall season.

Walnut P. T. A.

Delegates to the Ohio convention of Parent-Teacher associations which will be held at Columbus, Nov. 2-4, were chosen at the Monday meeting of Walnut P. T. A. These include Mrs. F. T. Bowne, Mrs. Arthur Sark, Mrs. Alva May, Mrs. Wilbur Griffith, Mrs. Edward Traub, Mrs. Sam Brinker, the alternates being Mrs. Thaddeus Cromley, Mrs. Russell Hedges, and Mrs. Russell Trone.

Mrs. Bowne presided at the session and announced the standing committees for the year. The committees are: program, the Rev. Ernest Winterou, Judson Lanman, Miss Wilfred Rodebush, Miss Graves, Mrs. Hedges, Harold Fisher; membership, Mrs. Russell Trone, Mrs. Fred Dresbach, Mrs. Hedges, Mrs. Fred Glick, Mrs. Orville Baker, Mrs. Wilbur Griffith, Mrs. Nelson Bell, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Cecil Heath, Mrs. Ray Fausnaugh, Mrs. Howard Drizigacher; ways and means, Mrs. E. C. Reid, Mrs. Roy Frazier, Mrs. Alva May, Mrs. Sam Brinker, Mrs. Ralph Dresbach, Mrs. Griffith, Mrs. Drizigacher, Mrs. Harley Runkle, Mrs. Hedges, Mrs. Archie Peters, Mrs. Trone, Mrs. Page McCray, Mrs. Opal Betts and Mrs. Cromley; hospitality, Mrs. Robert Barr, Mrs. Harold Fisher, Mrs. Ashur Lamb, Mrs. Boyd Hutchins, Mrs. Cecil Noecker, Mrs. Albert Marshall, Mrs. Millard May, Mrs. Bryan Rager, Miss Olive Grimm; publicity, Mrs. Traub, Miss Williams, Miss Georgia Bowers and Miss Winifred Rodebush; music and arts, Miss Rodebush; Summer round-up, Miss Kerr.

It was decided to present a book to each room having 97 percent attendance for the month. Mr. Griffith, Miss Graves and Mr. Hughes form the book committee.

C. D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, gave an inspiring talk stressing objectives for parents and teachers for the common good of the child.

A cornet solo by Avid Clark, accompanied at the piano by Miss Rodebush, concluded the program.

OUR SEVENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY

The First National Bank is the oldest national bank in Pickaway County and the fortieth oldest National Bank in the United States.

On October 10th, 1863 The First National Bank of Circleville was organized, under the national banking laws. The original board of directors consisted of Noah S. Gregg, Samuel Rogers, Samuel H. Ruggles, James E. Rice, Hanson Rock and Dr. Marcus Brown.

Dr. Brown was elected president and continued to fill this position until his death January 6, 1882. He was succeeded by J. A. Hawkes, who filled the office until his death on December 12, 1895. About a month after Mr. Hawkes death at a meeting of the stockholders held on January 14, 1896 there developed a contest for the control of the institution which resulted in the election of an entire new board of directors: L. H. Sweetman, C. E. Groce, Alexander Renick, Gottlieb Hartmeyer, B. F. Benford, and George J. McMullen.

Shortly afterward a full list of officers were elected, Mr. Sweetman being chosen president which office he held several years until his death, when B. F. Benford succeeded him. Mr. Benford continued in this position until June 15, 1936. Mr. George Foresman was then elected president and has continued in that capacity. The present board of directors consists of John D. Hummel, C. A. Leist, Ralph Curtain, George F. Grand-Girard, William T. Ulm and George P. Foresman.

The First National Bank stands today as one of the most significant monuments to the successful community which it serves. Year after year it has guarded, fortified and helped to build the financial interests of Circlevillians and Pickaway Countians. Collectively and individually its officers have served with faith, courage and foresight.

Investor, borrower, saver—large and small—turn daily to this old established bank in a knowledge and feeling of confidence, security and helpfulness to be gained.
